

Thank you for your reply.

I can assure you that my experience in the Bridewell last night was that staff are oblivious to any social distancing and I had to repeatedly ask them to stop approaching me.

Thank you for your explanation of why interviews take place. I was already aware of this. I am also aware why court hearings take place, including trials. Likewise I am aware why children go to school and why MOT tests are important. However, in the current circumstances, modifications to normal life must be made to save lives. Justice can continue without face to face interviews. Give proper, full disclosure and invite a written response. Eliminates a very real risk of exposure.

Every other aspect of our society has made drastic changes in an attempt to reduce exposure. Surely you can see that police interviews are not immune from this.

Jon Hullis